

To parents of children attending preschool in Norrköping

Information for parents and guardians

Hello!

The Coronavirus pandemic and its repercussions have greatly affected our preschool activities for about two months now. The pressure on our activities and staff has been considerable, and we have had to work flexibly in order to make adjustments at short notice in accordance with directives from the authorities; yet we are proud to say that preschools in Norrköping have managed to stay focused on education and high quality, even during this period of time. This is largely thanks to the support given by you parents and guardians.

The way all of our views have changed and how we react to mild symptoms, that you keep your children at home or come and collect them when called, even though it is sometimes difficult to leave work, that you show understanding when your children are sometimes met by substitute workers, and that you encourage the staff at work is all especially valuable.

The warmth of spring has now arrived, and it is easy to start thinking that it is all over and done with, but we know that the situation remains serious and that the Public Health Agency of Sweden has not eased off on its directives. So we hope for continued understanding and good cooperation in helping to slow the spread of infection and in showing great consideration.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Adam Olofsson, Director of Operations, preschool
Caroline Strid, Director of Operations, preschool
Sofie Lindén, Director of Education
